Our programs and services

Center for Agrarian Reform and Rural Development (CARRD) is a not for profit organization supporting agrarian reform beneficiaries and their cooperatives in three provinces: Batangas, Iloilo and Capiz

We improve quality of life of smallholder farming households by promoting access to productive resources and enabling them to make informed decisions about environment-friendly, nondiscriminatory and sustainable livelihoods.

We believe in people-centred development and a faith that promotes justice, peace and integrity to all people - regardless of age, gender and disability.

Stabilizing property rights in collectively-titled agrarian reform areas

- Community education, organization and mobilization
- Paralegal recruitment and development
- Inter-agency dialogues and problem-solving
- Reorganization of Barangay Agrarian Reform Councils
- Facilitating land amortization and land tax payments
- Policy advocacy

Promoting sustainable agriculture

- Providing agricultural extension services
- Developing organic farms
- Developing climate-resilient farms
- Providing access to sustainable farm inputs and post-harvest and processing support
- Facilitating access to credit, household and crop insurances, and other social protection measures

Incubating social enterprises

- Building capacities of partner-cooperatives in developing and sustaining enterprises
- Developing on-farm and alternative livelihoods
- Linking to business incubators and non-farm livelihood opportunities
